Pray For Those Who Wrong You

Many of you are familiar with Job and the extreme trials he faced. Few can relate and truly understand the immense pain he must have felt. His children died, he lost all his wealth, his wife turned against him, and he was afflicted with a terribly painful skin condition called boils. After all of this happened, in a short period of time, he had three friends come to visit him. You might think that these friends would offer consoling words in attempt to comfort Job. That would be the right thing to do. But instead they falsely accused him of wrong doing and blamed him for all that was happening. They are described as “miserable comforters” (Job 16:2) because they actually made the situation worse. When we get to the end of the book we are told that God restored to Job all that he lost (actually twice as much). I find it very interesting when God did this. Job 41:11 says “And the LORD restored Job's losses when he prayed for his friends. Indeed the LORD gave Job twice as much as he had before.” Are we willing to pray for those who wrong us? Sometimes it’s hard but it is what God expects.
