That Will I Speak

In I Kings we are introduced to a man named Micaiah. We was a prophet of God who was known for his honesty. Sadly, many who claimed to be prophets would lie and tell kings (or others in authority) whatever they wanted to hear. Micaiah was different. He would always tell the truth that he heard from God. Ahab, the king of Israel, said “I hate him because he does not prophecy good concerning me” (I Kings 22:8). The reason for Micaiah’s honesty was stated a few verses later when he said, “As the LORD lives, whatever the LORD says to me, that I will speak” (I Kings 22:14). Micaiah was not trying to win a popularity contest, actually he was very aware of the fact that the things he said made him unpopular among many. However, his only concern was to speak the things of God. Let us also make that our concern.
