"I am the door. If anyone enters by Me, he will be saved, and will go in and out and find pasture. John 10:9

Several years ago, I was travelling and had a flight transfer in Philadelphia. The airport was under construction, and I was having a difficult time finding the correct concourse for my connecting flight. The "door" I was looking for was not easily marked and difficult to find due to the construction. The time for my flight was drawing near, and I finally decided in order to get someone to direct me where I needed to go, I would walk through a passage way that said "Do not enter". It worked like I had expected and a security officer helped to direct me in the direction I needed to go.

Going through our daily routines sometimes the right decision, or the right door, is concealed. Most of the time, the correct door is hard to find simply because we have not been making the best decision, or we have been letting worldly things influence our decisions. We need to be on the look out for each other. If we see someone who is going through a "door" that he or she should not be entering, we need to approach them in love and help to direct them in the correct direction.

The security officer that helped me did not handcuff me and throw me to the ground. He simply asked if I needed help and kindly pointed me in the correct direction. We find this type of direction or correction in our weekly Bible classes and devotionals. We also find this type of correction in our personal relationships that are deepened through time spent together. We can all broaden our circle of friends simply by extending the hand of friendship to someone we might normally just pass in the hallway. My challenge this week is to find someone new to spend time with and to build a genuine friendship. ~ Andy Miller

Lads to Leaders 2019

Lads to Leaders is a leadership training program for Pre-k to 12th grade. We spend time working on ways to utilize our talents for the Lord through speech, teaching, art, web design, writing, song leading, puppets, debate, and many other events. It culminates in a weekend long convention at Opryland Hotel, April 18-21, 2019. The theme for this year is "I Am." If you have not signed up online for Lads - please do so as soon as possible. Our next practice is February 10th, and we need to have the information to better prepare our resources for your child. We will be making puppet and debate teams in the upcoming weeks as well as assigning mentors. If you need a hotel room, we can still get rooms, however, we are past the deadline so no changes can be made to existing rooms.
