“I am the vine; you are the branches. If you remain in me and I in you, you will bear much fruit; apart from me you can do nothing.” John 15:5

Before the age of cell phones, video games, computers in everyone's house and advanced technology, children would spend hours during the summertime playing outside. We would ride our bicycles around the yard, create different games, climb trees and swing on vines that were hanging from the trees. We would always encourage my younger brother to test the vine by swinging on it first to make sure it was intertwined in the tree canopy to hold us while we were swinging.

The analogy Jesus uses reminds me of the days playing in the woods on these vines. Jesus is the main trunk with the smaller branches going from it intertwining throughout the canopy into different trees. As long as we remain in His word our vines will be strong and be able to hold each other up, no matter what is happening down below. It is only when we choose to weaken ourselves by not being involved with the Lord's church that our branch becomes weak, lets go, and falls to ground.

We are in a world and society that is searching for and needs the Truth. The Church has the responsibility of taking the Gospel to those around us. Before we can successfully accomplish this as a congregation, we must all support each other and strengthen our individual branches by edifying and encouraging one another. Once our branch is deeply rooted, we can then help to strengthen the branches around us. This intertwining of our branches gives us spiritual connections and accountability which serve to make it more difficult to pull us out of Christ's canopy when the pressures of life come.
