Jesus Heals the Blind

In John chapter 9 Jesus did something that no regular man could do, He gave sight to someone who was born blind. Even within the medically advanced times that we live in, there are still blind people. Some are born that way, others made blind through injury, and some grow old and lose their sight. Medical professionals work and work but still do not know how to solve this dilemma in so many cases. Yet, Jesus simply made some mud put it on the man's eyes and told him to go wash in the pool of Silom. When the man obeyed, he was healed.

He was then able to see for the first time in his life. Jesus did not perform this miracle only to give this man a better physical sight. Rather, He did it to teach a spiritual lesson. Just prior to healing the man Jesus said “As long as I am in the world, I am the light of the world” (John 9:5). It is great that He can heal the physically blind but so much better that He can heal the spiritually blind. Make sure you look at the world through the light that Jesus shines.
