Godliness

When Paul wrote to Timothy he said these words “For bodily exercise profits a little, but godliness is profitable for all things, having promise of the life that now is and of that which is to come” (1 Timothy 4:8). We make a mistake when we put too much emphasis on physical things. Notice the part of this passage where Paul said that godliness is profitable in all things. When we are godly we will be better friends, parents, spouses, and people. Godliness is profitable not only in this life but also as we look forward to the next. To be godly simply means to show reverence, respect, or piety towards God. When we do so Paul assures us that it will be profitable in all that we do.
